Bowers Tells S-C Graduates; 'You Can Win With God's Help'

Camporee Ends With Awards Court Sunday

Over 500 Attend Basket Dinners And the Program

Mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles and friends joined the 200 Boy Scouts and their leaders Sunday afternoon for dinner and then the closing events of the annual Pettis District Boy Scout Camporee held at Camp Sakajewea.

The boys had been camping since Friday evening and they completed their outing Sunday morning, then went to the churches of their faith for worship services. Following this, the families and boys returned to the camp site for the noon meal.

Basket dinners were spread for each individual troop near its own camp site and there were 500 or more persons in attendance.

Following the meal, the court of honor was held with awards being presented to many of the campers and advancement awards being given to all who had made jumps in rank, or had earned badges, in the past three months.

Threatening skies and possible rain didn't dampen the spirits of the boys over the weekend—the most nearly rain-less Camporee held here in years.

Total attendance figures included 22 patrols in 11 troops to add up to 148 Boy Scouts, 28 Explorers, 34 troop leaders, and eight district officers for a total count of 218 participants.

The Camporee is a display of camping ability and patrol contests. The contests this year were in the form of problems involving the use of scout skills and knowledge. The contest was known as "Operation X."

None of the unit leaders or Scouts knew beforehand just exactly what would be encountered on the "adventure" into the unknown," except that tenderfoot, second and first class scout requirements would be utilized.

Only two patrols in the 22 present at the Camporee received a score high enough to be rated as a "Proficient Patrol." These were the Bearcat Patrol of Troop 45, Marshall Christian Church, and the Panther Patrol of Troop 54, First Methodist Church, Sedalia.

Scouts in the Bearcat Patrol of Marshall are: Donald Kathoff, "Ducky" Martin, W. K. Thomas, Raymond Kathoff, Bill Sutherland, David Hamilton, Lonnie Davis, and Skip Frazier. Scouts of the Panther Patrol of Troop 54 are: Bob McDonald, Charles A. Nest, Loren Sutherland, Tom Boehm, Allen Reeves, Tony Burton, Jack Dick and Dale Burford.

Other patrols received the standard patrol rating. No patrol received the "participating patrol" rating.

Five Troops received a proficient rating on the basis of the patrol competition and rating sheet that scored the troop on registration, patrol organization, food planning—serving-cooking, campsite arrangement, health and safety, program, appearance, equipment attendance and the troop's camping ability.

The Troops receiving the proficient rating include: Troop 45, Christian Church Marshall, Ray Dennis, scoutmaster; Troop 54, First Methodist Church, Henry Sutton, scoutmaster; Troop 57, Evangelical and Reformed Church, Fred Fisher, scoutmaster; Troop 58, Sacred Heart Parish, Leo Coxon, scoutmaster; and Troop 40, Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints, Clyde Waggoner, scoutmaster.

Troops receiving the standard rating include: Troop 52, First Baptist Church, Charles Hofheins, scoutmaster; Troop 53, Jefferson School PTA, Vincent Siegel, scoutmaster; Troop 68, Calvary Episcopal Church, Rev. Edward Simpson, acting scoutmaster; Troop 65, Broadway Presbyterian Church, Carl Neal, scoutmaster; Troop 69, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Arthur Bethke, scoutmaster; and Troop 151, St. Patrick's Parish, Martin Moser, scoutmaster.

Finally — It's Hot!

Finally, it got hot. Yesterday and today have been real summer days and everything is set for the swimming pool's opening Saturday. In the meantime we can recommend "President's Lady" as a movie of much interest and great historical background to provide cool recreation. Recently, as Joe Ruddle's guest, we saw the film at Springfield. It's the family story of Andrew Jackson and his wife,

Fair and warm tonight. Low tonight near 70. Tuesday partly cloudy and not so warm, highest in lower 80s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 74; 87 at 1 p. m., and 89 at 2 p. m.

Baccalaureate Services Is Held Sunday Afternoon

"You can win by the help of God, and let nobody mislead you." This was the thought left with the 1953 graduating class of Smith-Cotton High School Sunday afternoon by the Rev. Roy L. Bowers, pastor of the First Methodist Church, who preached the baccalaureate sermon at Smith-Cotton auditorium.

Education is not earning credits, not amassing a great number of facts, it is the continuous sharpening of your mind. It is reusing the thoughts you have already have, Mr. Bowers said. Today there is much stress put upon the word, "complex" and especially, "inferiority complex."

Too many people think, "I can't do it" and have that philosophy of life. The Bible, Mr. Bowers pointed out, is one of the greatest books on philosophy ever written because it proves what can be accomplished by people who believe they can do things.

To illustrate what he meant, Mr. Bowers told the story of the promised land, of the group who were sent to look over the promised land, which was a wonderful place, but only two of the group felt they might go in and take possession of the land, ten of them feared the giants living there.

You, too, will see giants of the world, the Rev. Mr. Bowers said, but do not be one who sees only the size of the giants.

This, said Mr. Bowers, seems to be a continuation of the "Drift Age," too many are willing to run with the crowd. You can't be a sheep, he said, you must be a leader.

The baccalaureate service opened with the procession, "Coronatus Festival March," by the high school orchestra with the graduates in their caps and gowns marching slowly down in to the center front section of the auditorium.

The Scripture was read by the Rev. Edward R. Sims, rector of the Calvary Episcopal Church, followed by "The Lord's Prayer," Malotte, by the girls glee club.

The prayer was by the Rev. J. W. Watts, pastor of the East Sedalia Christian Church, followed by a choral response by the girls glee club.

A group of high school girls, Mary Jo Case, Peggy Neville, Donna Rudd, Evelyn Reckard, Hollis Lane, Lillian Lee, Tricia Robinson, Marcia Priddy and Judy Risher, sang "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

The benediction was by the Rev. Joseph S. Loughran, pastor of the Federated Congregational-Presbyterian Church, followed by the choral response by the girls glee club.

The recessional, "Pomp and Circumstance," Edward Elgar, was played by the high school orchestra.

Rescue Workers Save 2 From Capsized Boat

ALTON, Ill. — Rescue workers saved from drowning a mother and 6-year-old daughter, trapped in a capsized cabin cruiser in the Mississippi River near here last night.

Four other persons aboard the boat were thrown into the water and were rescued also.

The mishap occurred in a section of the river northwest of Alton known as Alton Lake.

The cruiser struck a log and turned over.

The girl, Janet Buschhorn, of St. Louis, was unconscious when pulled from the boat but was revived on shore. Trapped with her was her mother, Mrs. Rudolph A. Buschhorn.

Thrown from the boat were Mrs. Buschhorn's husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Mattingly of suburban Overland, Mo., and their son, Robert, 18.

The girl and her mother were taken to St. Joseph's hospital at nearby St. Charles, Mo. The party was returning from an outing in the 16-foot, homemade craft.

Several persons on shore saw the accident, ran to other boats and went to the rescue.

Three Injured In Syracuse Strike Melee

Its First Violence On Labor Scene With 100,000 Idle

By The Associated Press

Violence broke out today on the nation's labor scene, where strikers have made more than 100,000 workers idle.

Three pickets and a sheriff's deputy were injured at Syracuse, N. Y., when white collar workers passed through picket lines at two strike-bound General Electric plants.

Four members of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers were held for questioning.

GE, which had invited its 4,000 salaries employees to return, said 670 white collar workers had passed through 500 to 1,000 pickets.

There were reports that pickets turned back hundreds of others.

Some 7,000 GE production workers represented by IUE struck seven weeks ago over local grievances.

The first break in a series of supplier strikes that have crippled a large segment of the auto industry came Sunday when a CIO United Auto workers local in Detroit ended a walkout at the Budd Co., caused by a jurisdictional dispute between its units.

The end of the walkout, called off on orders from the UAW international, is expected to permit some 44,000 Chrysler workers to return to their jobs in a day or two.

However, a strike at the Ford Motor Company's forging plant in Canton, O., has kept 85,000 workers in the Ford system idle.

Another strike in the Warner Gear Co. in Muncie, Ind., has affected auto production at Sudebaker, Willys, Nash and some General Motors plants.

About 6,000 AFL Brewery workers stayed off the job in Newark, N. J., while their joint board met to map strategy in a dispute with six breweries over retroactive wages. The company offered a 23 cents hourly boost that would bring minimum weekly wages to $93.50.

The 372 hours, a company spokesman said. The union wants the most retroactive to April 1, 1952.

The St. Louis building industry nearly paralyzed by a truck drivers strike, suffered a new blow today when about 500 AFL Ironworkers went out, demanding a 25 cents hourly pay boost.

Japanese Women Pull Mrs. FDR From Her Auto

TOKYO — A group of about 20 Japanese women, led by an American-born woman married to a Japanese, today pulled Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt from her car outside the Labor Ministry building, the newspaper Yomiuri reported.

Mrs. Roosevelt was not hurt. Japanese guards stopped the women, which started when the woman demanded an interview with the wife of the late President.

When Mrs. Roosevelt refused, the women pulled her from the car, the newspaper reported, but guards stopped them before they could harm Mrs. Roosevelt. One guard was slapped in the face, Yomiuri said.

The ringleader of the group was identified by the newspaper as Mrs. Fujikawa, 41, born in the United States, who came to Japan before the war.

The newspaper identified Mrs. Fujikawa as a member of the Communist party.

It said that when Mrs. Roosevelt refused an interview, the women shouted "Go back home."

Several women then pulled Mrs. Roosevelt from the car.

The group carried banners bearing Communist party slogans.

Yomiuri said Mrs. Fujikawa was active in last year's anti-American riots on May Day.

Mrs. Roosevelt is in Japan for a series of lectures.

Sailors Lost Off Ship

OSLO, Norway — Five sailors were lost yesterday with the 500-ton Dutch ship Toos, which capsized during a wind storm off Norway's west coast.

Easter Knight Is Champ

Sedalia Horse Tied With Top Honors At Legion's Horse Show On Sunday

Easter Knight stole the spotlight in the American Legion Horse Show and was tied the grand champion in the 5-gaited stake Sunday afternoon, at the State Fair Coliseum. The horse, owned by Mrs. Gold Hignitz, 319 West Sixth, shown by Scott Higgins of the Higgins Stables, La Monte, won with ease, just as he won the 5-gaited open class Saturday.

Easter Knight was recently tied grand champion of the National Stallion Show at Waterloo, Ia.

In the Jumpers, Sunday afternoon, an almost perfect score was made when Mrs. E. M. Jordan, Kansas City, up on Timberline, made the jumps with only 1/2 fault to win first place. There were only two and one-half points between first and second place.

Industry Fund Up To Half Its Goal

The industrial fund drive of the Chamber of Commerce has reached to one-half its goal of $100,000. Claude Boul, president of the C. of C., said last night the fund totaled $50,000. This is for investments to build a building for an industrial firm coming to Sedalia.

The fund drive was started last year and has been successful in securing contributions from many local firms.

The fund drive is being conducted by the Chamber of Commerce, which has set a goal of $100,000.

Nation's First Atom Shell Bursts In Brilliant 'S' Cloud This Morn

Visible 75 Miles Away, It Appears To Have An Ice Cap

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — The Army fired the nation's first atomic shell today from a huge cannon dubbed "Atomic Annie."

It burst with a brilliant flash over a simulated enemy target. The shot from the 280 M.M. cannon came at 8:30 a. m. (9:30 a. m. C.S.T.).

Within five minutes the customary atomic cloud formed, visible in this resort-gambling town 75 miles away. It developed a lazy S form and appeared to have an ice cap.

Sunlight glinted on the white top of the cloud. Its wispy stem led down to a purple base.

The cloud rose swiftly and seemed to be traveling fast. It did not have the true mushroom shape so familiar in previous nuclear tests.

An intensely trained crew of nine men of the 32nd Field Artillery Group, Ft. Sill, Okla., loaded the atomic gun, then retired to a safe distance for the firing, by remote control from the control room.

The Atomic Energy Commission, confirming in its usual announcement of a test that it was an atomic shell, said the distance from gun to target was between six and seven miles.

Approximately 50 aircraft participated in the test, including 12 B-36s from the Strategic Air Command's Carswell Base, Ft. Worth, Tex. These were for crew indoctrination purposes.

National leaders witnessing the test included Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, nominee for chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, Thomas E. Murray, member of the AEC, was present.

There was no apparent shock wave felt in Las Vegas.

Police Chief Sherman Lamb of St. George, Utah, said he saw and felt nothing. St. George last week got a substantial dose of atomic radiation from a test, requiring virtual closing down of the town for three hours.

The target area represented a typical enemy back-of-the-lines in stallation. In a grove of 50 trees, which survived the May 7 atomic blast, stood a 45-ton locomotive, 15 boxcars, tanks, planes, guns and from fortifications to tents. Various types of Army clothing also were included.

Among the nation's leaders on hand for the test were Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff. Nearly 100 congressmen, including Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.), chairman of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, were present.

The test was the first of a series of tests planned for the coming year.

Ike and Others To Back Loan For Pakistan

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower and GOP congressional leaders agreed Monday to back legislation for a loan of one million tons of wheat to Pakistan.

House Speaker Martin (Mass.) told newsmen after he and other leaders had their regular Monday conference with Eisenhower that legislation calling for the loan will be introduced later this week.

"The need is very desperate," Martin declared.

Pakistan has suffered from a drought.

The speaker said Eisenhower and the leaders also:

1. Agreed that the Senate would take up on Wednesday the President's plan for reorganization of the Agriculture Department. Sen. Knowland (Calif.), acting Senate Republican leader, predicted the Senate will approve the plan.

2. Had some "incidental discussion" of the forthcoming Bermuda conference of U. S., British and French leaders. Knowland reported "a unanimity of opinion" that the conference is a "constructive move."

Martin said the wheat loan would cut down the U. S. surplus and at the same time give aid to a deserving country.

In reply to a question, Martin said price details had not been worked out. Knowland added that the transaction would be handled by the Commodity Credit Corp., providing the legislation is approved.

Court Turns Down Rosenberg's Plea For New Hearing

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court today refused for the third time to grant a hearing to the late atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. This left as their only apparent chance to escape death in the electric chair a decision to tell the government any espionage secrets they may still hold.

President Eisenhower rejected their clemency pleas last February. But Justice Department sources said Saturday the Rosenbergs have been told they might be able to save themselves by "singing" to federal prosecutors.

The husband and wife spy team was convicted more than two years ago of wartime conspiracy to transmit atomic secrets to Russia.

If he is forced to call a special session, he could limit the subjects to be considered by the legislators and they would have to finish their work in 60 days.

Governor Refuses to Step Into Hot House-Senate Fight

House Asked Donnelly to Intercede, Ask Senators to Return This Week to Act On Appropriations to State Government

JEFFERSON CITY — Gov. Phil M. Donnelly declined today to step into the hot Senate-House fight over money to operate the state government the coming two fiscal years.

The House had asked the governor to intercede and request the senators to come back for a new effort at compromising the long feud. But Donnelly said he had no authority to do that under the Missouri Constitution.

"I find no authority of law or precedent that would justify my office in complying" with the House request, he said in a message to the House.

"I believe it would be highly presumptuous and improper for the governor to arbitrarily request an elected member of the General Assembly to return to Jefferson City when the absence of that member is within the provisions of the Constitution."

Donnelly noted that the House had adjourned until next Friday and the Senate until next Saturday—well within the ten-day limit permitted by the Constitution. Under the circumstances, the governor said, it was clear he had no jurisdiction to ask the Senate to come back before Saturday.

House members, in a huff last Thursday, said the Senate had presented money bills to the House and said, in effect, "here are our figures. Take them as they are or run the risk of having no appropriations when final adjournment comes May 31."

House members were bitter, but they could find no way out of the dilemma. Finally they hit on the device of asking the governor to request the Senate to return.

His refusal to intercede today left the tangle just where it was when the legislators went home last week.

Sen. Michael Kinney (D) of St. Louis, president pro tem of the Senate, agreed that the governor had no authority to act. Kinney also doubted whether he, as president pro tem, could get the Senate back in session before Saturday.

Kinney said he planned to talk with Speaker Lester A. Vonder Schmidt (R) of Mound City during the day and talk over the dilemma.

Vonder Schmidt said in a telephone interview he was disappointed in the governor's decision.

He said the House knew the governor had no specific constitutional authority to ask the Senate to come back. But he said House members thought the governor would be willing to use his influence as the chief executive to help unsnarl the situation.

Meanwhile, Rep. A. Clifford Jones (R) of St. Louis County, the legislator who offered the original plea that the governor step in, came back to the Capitol today. He said he returned because he thought the Senate just might come back tomorrow, too.

Jones said he had no information on which to base that idea.

The House left one loophole when it adjourned—it gave the speaker authority to use his discretion about calling the members back before Friday if he wishes.

If nothing is done before May 31, the governor would be forced to call a special session so state departments and institutions would have money to operate after present funds run out June 30.

Donnelly declined to comment.

Supreme Court Will Rule on Baseball's Reserve Clause Soon

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court today agreed to say whether organized baseball's "reserve clause" contracts violate federal anti-trust laws.

The ruling was asked by George Earl Toolson, a former New York Yankees farm club player who sought damages because he was placed on the ineligible list and has been unable to play professional ball since 1950.

Sacred Heart Graduation Sunday Night

Rev. W. H. Crane Speaks to Grads At Final Service

Commencement exercises were held Sunday night at the Sacred Heart High School for the graduation class of 1953, with the Rev. W. H. Crane, M. F., Jefferson City, delivering the commencement address.

The story he left with the young graduates was of a little boy who tore up a map of the world and his father told him he had to put it back together again. When the father returned home that evening the map had been put together perfectly and the surprised father asked the little boy how this had been accomplished. The child replied that there was a picture of a man on the back of the map and when the man was put together right the world came out all right.

The speaker pointed out that this is true in life. When the man is put together right the world will be all right, too. Work for your own goal, he told them, and it will affect the whole world. Your success in life depends on your decision now.

The commencement opened with the processional, "Pomp and Circumstance."

The awards and diplomas were presented by the Rev. A. J. Brunswick.

The men's choir of Sacred Heart Church sang "Veni Creator Spiritus" preceding the benediction by the Rev. J. T. Nolan and following the benediction sang, "Holy God."

WDAF, Strikers Meet For Talk; Radio And TV Still Silent

KANSAS CITY — A meeting was called for 5 p. m. today for negotiators for the Kansas City Star's strikebound radio and television stations and the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists.

The meeting will be held in the office of Ernest E. Myers, commissioner of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, who called it.

Meanwhile, WDAF and WDAF-TV remained off the air as pickets remained on duty in the four-day strike.

Diethelm Won't Form New French Cabinet

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford
Former Governess to Her Majesty

XVII

I OFTEN recall a make-believe game that the Princesses, especially Princess Margaret, were fond of playing when they were children. We called it "It."

Princess Margaret would prance about the playground chanting, "If I could be anything I liked, I'd be a good girl, I should think." "A good girl, I should think," I would reply. "Certainly a Princess should be good."

"But if I weren't a Princess, I should like to be..."

And she would search her lively imagination for a dozen fantastic professions, some of which she had read about in books and others that she had invented on the spot. Her images were always colorful and stimulating.

Princess Elizabeth sometimes entered the game, but she always tried to connect it with the real life outside, of which she could catch only glimpses. She was absorbed by healthy curiosity about the way other people lived, and tried to put herself in their places. Instead of playing a game, she exercised this faculty while we were in the streets or in the country.

Among the little throng always to be seen waiting outside the Palace were several familiar faces. Many elderly women were among them.

"We know them, don't we, Crawfie?" Princess Elizabeth would say. "But still, I wonder who they are?"

There was one old lady, dressed in black, with a lean, sad face, who was always waiting at Hyde Park Corner at four o'clock on Friday afternoons as we drove down from the Palace to the Royal Lodge, Windsor.

We always took the same route—up Constitution Hill, and round the traffic island into the Park. The Princesses became interested in her, speculating on whether she would be there or not.

She always was.

As our car came abreast of the gate where the traffic has to slow down in order to file through the arches into the Park, there she would be, watching.

Princess Elizabeth would be worried about her if we were ever delayed on our journey, or—rarely happened—there was a change in our week-end routine.

"I hope she will not wait too long," the Princess would say. "She doesn't look very strong."

Sailor Almost Doesn't Get To His Wedding

NORMAN, Okla. (P)—You might call it a story-book wedding—a horror story!

Gilbert Mills, 19-year-old Compton, Calif., sailor stationed at the Norman Naval Base, was beaming as he drove the 14 miles between here and Oklahoma City to get married this weekend. He gave another sailor a ride and began telling him about his whirlwind romance.

That's when the car went off the highway.

Mills was so engrossed in his own tale, the front wheel slipped off the shoulder and the vehicle overturned. His companion suffered minor cuts and bruises but Mills was unhurt.

Time was running out. Mills flagged passing motorists who helped him set his car back on its wheels and he raced to Oklahoma City. He reached the license bureau minutes before the doors closed.

Then, a wild dash to his bride's home. The preacher was waiting. His bride was blushing. Things were going right at last.

That's when the shore patrol walked in.

Collaring Mills, they began to haul him off for failure to report an accident, despite his protest, "but I'm getting married." The Navy cops explained, sadly, there was nothing in the code of naval law to cover the situation.

Mills' future father-in-law, Joe T. Franklin, persuaded the SP's to forego minor cuts and bruises but Mills was unhurt.

Dares Demos To Fight Ike's Air Force Cut

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.) dared the Democrats to make a political issue of proposed Air Force money cuts with the assertion today that he believes the country will back President Eisenhower's military judgment.

Millikin, chairman of the Conference of all Republican Senators, said critics of a planned five billion dollar cutback in Air Force appropriations requests are giving a false impression that this would reduce U. S. air strength.

"The President declared himself in favor of continued strengthening of the Air Force," Millikin said in an interview. "I believe the country will support the judgment of the President as to our proper air strength."

Eisenhower has asked $11,668,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1 in a program to build Air Force strength to 120 wings by mid-1955. The budget of former President Truman called for $16,788,000,000 next year and 143 wings by mid-1955.

The conference chairman noted the proposed reduction does not affect money to be spent immediately in building up what Secretary of Defense Wilson has said will be a 30 per cent increase in air strength.

Millikin said the cutback in Air Force funds for the year starting July 1 will be in money to be spent two or three years from now, with subsequent revisions of plans possible.

However, Millikin's statement indicated the seriousness with which the GOP legislative command regards mounting Democratic opposition to the five billion dollar cut.

In the overall picture of world defense, GOP sources described the Eisenhower administration as "desperately anxious" for a truce in Korea. An influential Republican in Congress, declining to be named, said the administration's domestic popularity may hang in the balance at Panmunjom, where truce talks are resuming.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, jumped in to the fray yesterday with a statement that he sees nothing in the world situation to "justify a slowdown or a stretchout of our preparedness program."

Specifically, Johnson said he doesn't believe any large cut in air strength can be justified, adding in a broadcast to Texas radio stations:

"If these reductions are put into effect, we can only hope and pray that no mistake has been made, hope and pray that no enemy will strike—that we will be in a position to defend ourselves if an enemy should strike."

Backing up Johnson's statement, made in a broadcast recorded for Texas radio stations, were such Democratic senators as Hunt of Wyoming, Henry Jackson of Washington and Holland of Florida.

One Republican, Sen. Young of North Dakota, appeared ready to join Democrats in protesting against the administration's proposal to slash Air Force funds.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.) and Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) have said they want clearer data about the Air Force.

Jackson, interviewed yesterday on a CBS television show, said he thought Secretary of Defense Wilson should resign. Rep. Yorty (D-Calif.) called for Wilson's resignation last week in a protest against proposed defense cutbacks.

Jackson said he voted to confirm Wilson, former President of General Motors, as Defense chief, adding:

"But I'm beginning to think more and more that he ought to be making automobiles rather than airplanes."

Young said Saturday he feared the proposed economies would leave the U. S. Air Force inferior to Russia's.

It was Saturday that Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) indicated Eisenhower's military prestige would be invoked in an effort to quell the uproar over Air Force cuts.

Ferguson, chairman of an appropriations subcommittee considering defense funds, said:

"I believe that when the facts are all known, most of the Congress will go along with the President on this because he is a military expert and his judgment must be trusted."

Marine Facing Probe In Death Of Calif. Rancher

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (P)—A 19-year-old Marine is expected to be returned to Los Angeles today or tomorrow in the "everything-went-black" slaying of a rancher found at the bottom of a well.

Meantime, an autopsy is scheduled on the body of the Lancaster rancher, Joseph Welford Cyr, 30, shot in the top of the head.

"He was always talking about disembodied egos and ghasts," police quoted the Marine, William Marion Lawson, of Campbell, Calif., arrested here Saturday night.

Officers Nelson Bishop, Wayne McDorman and Ray Schaeffer said Lawson told this story:

Six weeks ago he escaped from a Long Beach, Calif., Naval brig where he was held following the stabbing of a fellow Marine. He met Cyr and stayed at the latter's ranch about five weeks.

Cyr, at the bottom of a well they were digging Friday, started talking about ghosts, Lawson told him: "Shut up or I'll blow your brains out." Cyr started up the well, reaching for a knife.

Lawson pointed Cyr's 25 automatic, which he was carrying, as "everything went black." He heard the gun crack and saw Cyr fall back, bleeding, into the well.

Lawson drove Cyr's car to Barstow and hitchhiked here. He was arrested in a bar after another youth, trying to pawn a gun, told a policeman the weapon belonged to Lawson.

Los Angeles deputies said no knife was found in the well or in Cyr's clothing.

Nationalists Report Gen. Dean Underwent Recent Appendectomy

TAIPEH, Formosa (P)—A Nationalist-Chinese news agency said today U. S. Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, a Korean War Prisoner of the Communists, had undergone an appendectomy recently in Peiping.

However, in Berkeley, Calif., the general's wife said he "had his appendix removed years ago." She said she had received a letter from him dated April 6 from a North Korean prison camp in which he said he was well.

The China Union Press, which specializes in news from the Red China mainland, said Dean was taken to Manchuria on April 16 and later to Peiping.

Suggests Sending Extra Food Overseas

WASHINGTON (P)—The American Farm Bureau Federation has suggested sending government-held surplus food to other countries under the mutual aid program.

W. Raymond Ogg, the bureau's director of international affairs, advanced the plan at Senate foreign relations committee hearing Saturday. The committee is considering the $5,800,000,000 foreign aid bill.

Ogg said he would not propose "dumping" the surplus food stocks, which now total about a billion dollars worth. But he said they could be sold on a voluntary basis for local currencies, which could be used for each country's economic development.

The World Today-- Wilson Whirling Defense Job

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (P)—Charles E. Wilson said he would give the Secretary of Defense job the "damndest whirl it has ever had." That was last November when the 62-year-old president of General Motors was picked by the then President-elect Eisenhower for his cabinet.

Things have been whirling ever since, and not always pleasantly, for the white-haired and roundish Wilson who gave up a salary reported to be $600,000 a year to work in Washington for $22,500. At the moment the whirl he's caught up in is with Congress, with members of both parties.

His success or wisdom as secretary of Defense cannot be known yet. His relations with the military brass in the Pentagon have been kept pretty quiet. But in his dealings with Congress he has been less than a magician.

Wilson has frankly said he has no political ambitions. Eisenhower picked him because he was one of the great business managers of the country. As head of the Defense Department he would manage a branch of the government which has more dealings with American business than any other.

For him the whirl began early. When he went up to answer the routine questions of the Senate committee which had to pass on his appointment, he startled the senators and the Eisenhower team by frankly balking at giving up his $2 1/2 million dollars worth of holdings in G. M., the Defense Department's biggest military contract holder.

Eventually he agreed to shed his stock, but only after much publicity, discussion and some criticism. What seemed puzzling was that Wilson had apparently not informed himself, before leaving Detroit, that this would be required of him before he could become Defense secretary.

Approved at last, he disappeared into the Pentagon where everyone knew what was expected of him: after all the Republican campaign promises of economy it would be up to him to provide the maximum defense at minimum cost. This meant, of course, stepping on the toes, feelings and desires of a lot of generals and admirals who had ideas of their own.

If there were shrieks inside the Pentagon walls as Wilson's ax landed, he seems to have muffled them. They may come unmuffled if Congress starts poking around. Already an Air Force report, issued upon request of Rep. Yorty, California Democrat, has expressed

Truce Talks Recess Until Monday, June 1

PANMUNJOM #—Korean truce talks resumed today amid tight secrecy and then recessed until June 1—apparently because of level exchange on the critical prisoner exchange issue is needed.

Presumably the United Nations Command presented a new proposal at the outset of today's session, which ended an eight-day, Allied-requested recess.

The South Korean truce delegate, Maj. Gen. Duk Shin, did not attend the session.

A reliable South Korean source said Choi refused to go because he could not accept part of the new proposal, but an Allied spokesman said Choi was on the telephone and missed the helicopter from Allied headquarters at Munsan.

It was the first time a South Korean truce delegate has missed a session since the truce talks began.

The South Korean government has spoken out sharply against any agreement that doesn't unify North and South Korea and against letting a neutral commission take charge of North Korean prisoners who refuse to return to Communism.

The last Allied proposal made public would have the Korean prisoners immediately after an armistice, but the Reds objected. There has been speculation the Allies would concede this point in the new proposal.

As the negotiations were in session, Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. Far East commander, met with South Korean President Syngman Rhee in Seoul. There was no announcement from their two-hour meeting.

The truce meeting itself was a secrecy-veiled affair.

U. N. interpreters could be seen through the windows of the crude conference hut apparently reading a long statement.

Washington sources had said a possible new approach would be offered on the last major barrier to an armistice—what to do about 48,500 Communist prisoners refusing to return to Red rule.

There was no inkling as to whether such a plan had been offered but—if so—the Communist delegation probably would have asked a long recess to refer the matter to higher authority.

Communist spokesmen, after talking to members of their delegation, said the Allies had requested a news blackout on the session.

A similar blackout was imposed in April, 1952 in an effort to iron out differences on the prisoner exchange issue.

LT. Col. Milton Herr, said he did not know if the next meeting also would be secret. He would not say who asked for the secret meetings.

The Red newsmen indicated disapproval of the secret sessions when they were first informed by the Red delegation at this morning's meeting. The Red correspondents did not return to Panmunjom from Kaesong for the afternoon secret sessions. The delegates met a total of about two hours, with two recesses.

LT. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior Allied delegate, did not hold his usual press conference with newsmen after the meeting. He turned aside all questions with "no comment."

There was speculation before the meeting that the U. N. Command would make a "now or never" effort to break the truce deadlock.

The vital issue of what to do with prisoners refusing to return to their Red homelands remained the biggest problem.

The Communists want the matter decided by a later political decision if the prisoners are still reluctant to return after getting Red "explanations" while in custody of a five-nation neutral commission.

An earlier Allied proposal suggested 34,000 North Koreans be released immediately after an armistice and 14,500 Chinese be turned over to the neutral commission for Red "explanations." Then, if they still refuse, the Chinese would be freed.

There was speculation the new U. N. Command proposal may offer to agree to a political conference to decide the issue, provided a time limit is set before hand.

OBITUARIES

Everett M. Craig
Everett M. Craig, 64, well known farmer-service station operator of one mile east of Windsor on Highway 52, took his life by hanging about 7 p. m. Sunday. He had been ill for several weeks and had been in a despondent mood for some time, due to his health, according to members of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Sunday evening sat in a swing in the front yard of their home at which time he told his wife, when asked how he was feeling, that he didn't feel so good and was "down in the dumps."

After a short time he said he was going up to the barn and over to a fence he had been repairing.

He walked up through the barn lot and she walked down to the service station which his nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Craig, had taken over a few days before, after Mr. Craig had given up the operation of the Texico station which joined the farm.

Mrs. Craig said she visited with her nephew and niece for about 20 minutes and then returned to the home. She said she went into the house and when Mr. Craig was not in his chair or on the couch, she decided she would walk up to the fence and see how he was getting along with it.

As I walked into the barn lot I could see my husband hanging in a tree at the corner of the barn," Mrs. Craig said.

She screamed for her nephew and he and his wife rushed up to the tree with Mrs. Craig. The nephew cut the rope to let Mr. Craig down to the ground, but he was already dead. They summoned Dr. Roy Jordan from Windsor and he pronounced Mr. Craig dead.

Dr. C. Gordon Stauffer, coroner, and Sheriff John Taylor went to the farm. After an investigation, Dr. Stauffer said an inquest would not be necessary.

Mr. Craig was born at Ousley, north of Windsor, in Johnson County, Feb. 15, 1889, the son of the late John Craig and Patty Sanders Craig. He was reared in that community and attended the country school of Johnson County.

He was married to Miss Ella Champ, of north of Windsor, on July 18, 1918. They resided in that community for some time and six years ago last November moved to the present farm and took over the operation of the service station as well.

Johnson, Windsor, and Miss Katherine Craig, Joplin; seven grand children; a brother, Overton "Ten" Craig; and two sisters, Miss Mary Craig and Miss Anna Mae Craig, who made their home with the brothers in Windsor.

He was a member of the Eldorado Christian Church, north of Windsor.

Circuit Court

The suit in conversation, filed by Jim White against A. Brockman, was dismissed Monday in Circuit Court through White's attorney, J. C. McCloskey. A suit on account, also filed against Brockman by the Missouri Distributing Co., was dismissed Thursday upon a motion by Charles Maggard, administrator of Brockman's estate. Both suits were filed early in 1950, before Brockman's death in July of that year.

The Missouri Public Service Corp., filed a motion Saturday for a new trial of the suit against it by Mrs. Virginia Rose Moore, who was awarded $20,000 damages on May 15 in a jury trial. The corporation's attorney is Henry C. Salver, while Martin and Gibson represent Mrs. Moore.

Joe Dinsmore was granted a divorce Saturday from Alice Dinsmore after she was dismissed her crossbill. He was represented by Westner and Wesner.

Betty R. Rodgers, represented by Martin and Gibson, was granted a divorce Saturday from M. Calvin Rodgers, along with custody of their minor child and child support.

Orlando D. Hanson was granted a divorce Saturday from James Hanson. She was also given custody of their minor children and child support. She was represented by Crawford and Harlan.

Judge Dimmitt Hoffman overruled motions by both William Fred Smith and Devona M. Smith to modify or grant a new trial of the divorce suit heard April 17. On that day, Judge Hoffman denied a divorce to Smith on his petition and to Mrs. Smith on her crossbill. The evidence for the motions for retrial were heard Thursday and taken under advisement, and judgment was given Saturday. Smith was represented by Bamberg and Bugotski, Mrs. Smith by Westner and Wesner.

Raymond C. Meyers was granted a decree of divorce modified Friday gave him custody of his two minor children. A divorce had originally been granted to Pearl Meyers in which she had been given custody of the children. Her attorney was William F. Brown.

British Plan Mass Assault On Mt. Everest

NEW DELHI, India, #—Himalayan experts here said today the British Mt. Everest expedition's plan to mount bold or even triple assaults on the peak's summit has made its chances "the most hopeful yet."

At least 10 previous expeditions have tried to scale the glacial 29,009-foot mountain—the world's highest—and failed. The British climbers, led by Col. John Hunt, are reported making their final attempt from an advance camp 2,000 feet below the summit.

Because their only communication is by native runner to Katmandu, Nepal, reports from the climbers usually are delayed a week or more.

"It depends on how long the weather holds," commented Robert Botz, secretary of the New Delhi Himalayan Club. "My guess is they won't strike if they have enough time they will be able to use each team of climbers more than once."

The Indian government weather station in New Delhi has predicted at least one more day of fair weather.

The double attack plan calls for a couple of two-man teams to try the last dash across the south ridge to the summit, one at a time.

Symington, Radford To Meet Again; Word Battle Is Predicted

WASHINGTON #—Adm. Arthur Radford and Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) key figures in a bitter Navy-Air Force wrangle four years ago, come face to face at a question-and-answer session this week.

The admiral goes before the Senate Armed Services Committee Thursday in connection with his nomination as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Symington is a member of the committee.

Informed senators of both major parties agreed Radford was in for heavy grilling, but they predicted he would win committee approval and Senate confirmation.

South Koreans Fight Off 200 Reds' Attacks

SEOUL, (P) — Sturdy South Korean infantrymen fought off a bitter three-hour attack early today by almost 200 Chinese who stormed to the crest of an Allied outpost on the Eastern Front.

Standing off the raiders with hand grenades and close range rifle and machinegun fire, the ROKs reported killing or wounding some 60 Red raiders in the battle just southeast of Outpost Texas.

Other Allied troops cut down a dozen smaller Communist probes.

U.N. raiding and reconnaissance patrols hit Red lines at 25 points across the 155-mile front.

An Eighth Army spokesman said the Red line is manned by 253,000 troops.

He said intelligence reports showed there are slightly more than one million Red troops spread over North Korea with seven Chinese armies (about 29,000 fighting troops each) and two North Korean corps (about 30,000 each) on the battline.

In the air, Allied fighter-bombers destroyed 10 buildings in a troop concentration near Suncheon in West Central Korea and hit Red front-line positions in morning stabs, the Fifth Air Force reported.

Night flying B26 bombers also pounded Communist forward areas and slammed tons of bombs on North Korean roads, destroying 45 supply trucks, a locomotive and 18 boxcars.

American Sabre jets went MIG hunting deep in North Korea's MIG Alley, but found none to fight.

Navy planes from the American carriers Boxer and Philippine Sea also were busy, bombing Red positions from Chongjin south to the frontlines.

At sea, the U. S. battleship New Jersey steamed far up the Yellow Sea on Korea's west coast and blasted Red coastal defenses at the river approaches to the key port of Chinnampo.

The Eighth Army staff officer said Red service units, work details and attached artillery units raise considerably the figure of 263,000 Red front line troops.

Man Kicks, Blackjacks Wife Because Dinner Isn't Ready Instantly

NEW YORK (P) — "I'd prepared his favorite food for him—sauerkraut and potatoes—all I had to do was warm it up," says Mrs. Jennie Grabowski.

But the 51-year-old mother of five children told police yesterday her husband, Stanley, 59, wanted it ready as soon as he got home Saturday night. Because it wasn't ready, she added he tied her to a cellar beam and then kicked and blackjacked her into unconsciousness.

Grabowski, a construction worker, was held in $1,500 bail on charges of felonious assault and weapons law violation. Mrs. Grabowski was reported in poor condition at Queens hospital. They have been married 25 years.

Probe Airplane Crash Killing 6 Near St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (P) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has begun an investigation into the crash of an unscheduled cargo plane trying to make an instrument landing in fog with one of two engines crippled, six of seven persons aboard were killed.

Fred G. Powell, Chicago, chief of the CAB's Region 3 Bureau of Safety Investigations, came here to head the inquiry.

The crash early yesterday was the first major one at Lambert-St. Louis airport in 10 years. Ten persons, including Mayor William Becker, were killed in an Army glider crash in 1943.

As the plane, a DC3 bound for Oklahoma City from Teterboro Airport, N. J., neared St. Louis, the pilot radioed "I got one engine, coming in for a landing."

Airport personnel verified the message and alerted the field's crash crew.

The plane made one attempt and apparently was turning for another when one wing touched the ground. That threw the plane against the earth and it skidded about 180 feet. There was no fire.

Killed were Harold Carr, 30, White Plains, N. Y., and Ernest J. F. Rankin, 41, Manhattan, N. Y., both pilots; Edward B. Raftery, 26, Elmsford, N. Y.; Arthur A. Raveitz, 29, Bronx, N. Y., both copilots; and Ann Marie Delicata, 23 Bronx, N. Y., the hostess. Floyd Stanley Evans, 27, Lodi, N. J., one of two mechanics aboard, died a few hours later at St. Louis County Hospital.

The lone survivor was John Swart, 32, Haskell, N. J., the other mechanic. All were employees of the Meteor Air Transport Company and were taking an airplane engine to Oklahoma City. Swart was reported in serious condition with cuts, bruises and a punctured lung.

Stabs Woman Fatally, Is Beaten By Crowd At Baseball Game

NEW YORK (P) — A 32-year-old man fatally stabbed his woman friend at a Central Park baseball game yesterday, then was savagely beaten by enraged players and spectators.

The man, Edward Cartagena, was saved when mounted patrolmen intervened and guarded him until the arrival of police radio cars and an ambulance.

Cartagena's victim was Carmela Olivo, 32, a widow described by police as his estranged common-law wife.

Detectives said the woman was with her sister in the crowd of 1,000 watching two Puerto Rican teams play. Witnesses were quoted as saying Cartagena appeared with a six-inch knife and attacked Mrs. Olivo. She sought to flee but was cornered at the backstop.

Cartagena, who was treated for cuts and bruises of the head at Knickerbocker Hospital was booked on a charge of homicide.

Demos Turn Down 1954 Meeting Plan

WASHINGTON (P) — Congressional Democrats have signaled thumbs down on a proposed 1954 national convention lest it split their party just ahead of Senate and House elections.

Southern Democrats generally are in a mood to boycott such a convention if it is held and some of their Northern and Western Colleagues agree it would be a political experiment fraught with unusual dangers.

They believe it would revive the cooling civil rights controversy and spotlight other differences among party members.

Although committees appointed by National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell have yet to report, a cross-section of opinion among Democratic senators showed most of them opposed to the convention idea.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.), the party's 1952 vice presidential nominee, took a more lenient attitude toward the suggestion than some of his colleagues.

He said a Democratic conference, as opposed to a convention, might be all right. But he expressed no liking for a meeting replete with platform and other political trimmings of the presidential-nominating convention every four years.

"It would be all right for us to get together and jack up the Republicans but I see no need for adopting a platform since members of Congress generally run on local issues and not on a national platform anyway," Sparkman said.

Paul M. Butler, Indiana national committeeman who brought up the 1954 convention idea, suggested it could bring the 1952 platform up to date and speak "with a single clear voice" for the party.

Mitchell said he was "sympathetic" and proceeded to appoint study committees.

Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.) said he wants nothing to do with any such convention.

Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo.) said he thinks there would be a lot of controversy over any efforts to bring the national platform up to date.

Cowboy Items Must Show True Origin

WASHINGTON (P) — The Federal Trade Commission and the Texas Rangers are riding close herd on a belt, boot and holster outfit down Texas way.

In an order issued today, the commission said Tex Tan of Yonkers, a corporation which makes those items of TV fame, may continue labeling them "Texas Ranger" only if they show clearly the real Texas Rangers do not sponsor or endorse them.

Syngman Rhee Awards US Marine Commander

SEOUL (P) — President Syngman Rhee today awarded the Order of Military Merit Tai Guk to Maj. Gen. E. A. Pollock, commander of the First Marine Division, for his contribution to development of the Korean Marine Corps.

The Arlington, Va., general assumed command of the division shortly after the Korean Battle of Bunker Hill and was in command during the fierce fighting on The Hook last October and during the recent defense of Outpost Vegas.

Bobby Brown Hurls Two-Hit Masterpiece--

Sedalia Opens BJ Season With Victory Over Miners

Righthander Bobby Brown came within two eyelashes of throwing the first no-hit ball game of the Central Missouri Baseball season Sunday night as he let the Moberly Miners down on two scratch hits to guide the Sedalia Chiefs to a 7-1 victory under the Liberty Park lights.

Gene Dennis, the Miner third sacker, was the fly in the ointment both times, spinning a broken-bat liner off the shortstop's glove in the fourth and dropping a pop fly out of everyone's reach in the ninth.

His second safety set-up the lone Moberly run, an unearned tally which came home on a Sedalia error.

Brown, who has added a snapping overhand fastball to his sharp breaking curve, gave one of his best performances on the local diamond. He fanned 14 and walked only two, while facing no more than four batters in any inning until the ninth.

He started off that frame by fanning Ron Winkler on a sweeping curve. Jay Turner followed by drawing a pass. Dennis then dropped his bloopier to left center to put men on first and third. Ronald Harrison then slapped a sharp ground ball, which skipped through the Sedalia second baseman's legs, allowing Turner to score.

Brown then took charge and whiffed Bill Reid and Larry Lewis to end the game.

For the first three frames, the contest was a tight mound duel between Brown and Jim Sadler, the hard throwing southpaw who started for the visitors, although Sadler had to weather a shaky third inning in which Sedalia loaded the bases with two out on singles by Larry Mines, Floyd Burton and Don Higgins before Sonny Thomas went down on strikes.

Dillon's Homer Breaks
The Chiefs broke the ice in a big way in the fourth, however, counting three times on a one-baser by John Weiss, a walk to Bobby Lane and a towering home run over the right center field wall by Dick Dillon.

Sedalia added another in the fifth on Burton's second single, his theft of second and his steal of third, scoring when Miner catcher Bill Reid threw the ball into left field.

Bob Guilek took over the mound chores for the Miners in the sixth and gave up the final three Sedalia runs.

In the seventh a double to right center by Higgins and a solid single by Thomas chased in one, and doubles by Bennett, Lane and Brown brought in the final pair in the eighth.

The local attack against Guilek brought smiles to the faces of the Chief fans, as his stock-in-trade is a dippy-do curve ball, the pitch which has troubled the Sedalia team in the past.

Weist Stars In Field
Weist, who caught for the Chiefs last season, made his debut at third and easily was the fielding star of the contest, handling five chances flawlessly, three of them tough ones.

His performance allows Manager George Thompson to move the sore-legged Thomas to left field, the spot he prefers to play. The Chiefs' new sponsors, Federated Shop Crafts, also enjoyed a good night, counting more than 400 patrons in the stands -- one of the best crowds at a BJ contest here in some time.

Mayor Herb Studer pitched the first ball of the contest, a high, soft one, which bounced off the mitt of "first-ball catcher" Earl Paxton, president of the shop federation.

The Chiefs' next play at Mexico Thursday night, and meet Brookfield here next Sunday evening. The Chiefs will practice at 5:30 p. m. today at Liberty Park. The team will meet at Cal Rodgers Pontiac garage Friday afternoon and leave from there for Mexico at 5 p. m. All players are expected to be out for practice.

ABC Is Great Except Is Has $30,000 Loss

CHICAGO (AP)—The Golden Jubilee Tournament of the American Bowling Congress was a success every way but financially.

Winning scores culled from a record number of entries for the record 93 days the meet ran were high, and competition, at least in the early days, was stiff.

Four new champions were crowned, while the fifth, the Detroit Peiffer Beers, won their second straight regular division team crown, the second team in history to do it.

But when the 1953 meet ended last night, it was estimated by Director Charlie Treuter that ABC lost between $30,000 and $40,000.

Failure to draw at the gate the big factor.

Only 42,837 customers passed through the turnstiles. The gate was only $1,025.50 for the final week which saw the Masters' Invitational and Mixed Doubles Tournaments staged as crowd stimulants.

All of the five ABC champions rolled their winning scores in March and they withstood the challenge of thousands of teams and individuals the rest of the way.

The champions, their scores, date bowled, what they won, and unofficial low scores to cash follow:
Regular teams—Peiffer Beers, Detroit, 3181 (March 12)—$2,500; low score to cash—2700.
Booster teams—Frank's Jewelry, Chicago, 2852 (March 2)—$250; low score to cash—2668.

Singles—Frank Santore, New York, 749 (March 29)—$500; low score to cash—549.
Doubles—Ed Koepf-Joseph Kiss-off, Cleveland, 1339 (March 25)—$1,000; low score to cash—1082.
All-Events—Frank Santore, New York, 1994 (March 29)—$1,000; low score to cash—1703.

Sportsmen Nip Mokane Behind Hurler Hayden

Sedalia Sportsmen broke into the win column in the Central Missouri league Sunday as Red Hayden hurled the locals a three hitter to dump Mokane, on the Mokane diamond, 5 to 2.

Hayden fanned 12 and gave up only two walks as he proved very effective on the mound. He was backed by loose fielding including four errors, but it was tight enough in the clutches.

Until the last of the ninth, Hayden had a shutout, but Mokane put across the two tallies on a couple of Sportsmen miscues and no hits in that final half canto.

Hinnan, Mokane pitcher, struck out 6, issued 4 walks and was nipped for nine hits.

Red Knoop, Sportsman first sacker, put in a pair of singles and batted in three of the winners' 5 tallies. He also saved the game in the field on two brilliant plays.

Sportsmen now have a 1-1 record in the league, having lost their opening loop tilt to the SAFB Armies. Their mark for the season is 4-2 and they now have taken three wins in a row.

Sunday they will go to California.

Yesterday's Games Bums Get 12 Runs Before 1 Man Is Out

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who said Philadelphia is a dead town on Sunday? Brooklyn Dodgers think it's gayer than Paris, louder than Coney Island and wilder than an office Christmas party.

When you score 12 runs in an inning before a man is out, as the Dodgers did yesterday in the eighth at Connie Mack Stadium, no town is dull.

All this muscle flexing gave the Dodgers a 16-2 victory that still left them in fourth place in the merry National League race where the mileage from first to fourth is only one ball game.

Milwaukee took over the lead Saturday and still clung to a half game margin after yesterday's split with Chicago, winning 5-4 and losing, 5-2. St. Louis elbowed into second on Gerry Staley's five-hit shutout of Cincinnati, 2-0, and the New York Giants belted Pittsburgh, 11-3, snuggling only 2 1/2 games off the pace.

Johnny Sain's batting and pitching for another New York Yankee triumph over Boston, 8-4, left the world champs still 3 1/2 games out front. There is a new second place team, Cleveland, after its twin scores over St. Louis, 5-1 and 9-8. Chicago remained 3 1/2 back in third place. If percentage points behind Cleveland, after beating Detroit for the second day in a row with ninth inning spurt, 3-1, Washington nosed above .500 by knocking off Philadelphia, 6-3.

The big excitement was at Philadelphia where Augie Donatelli had almost as much exercise as the Phillies' pitching staff. Augie opened the day by tossing out Russ Meyer in the fourth after the hot tempered Mr. Meyer made violent protest of a pitch call and threw the resin bag into the blue sky. Jim Hughes, who failed as a relief man for Meyer, and Billy Loes were chased for heckling Augie from the bench.

In the midst of the eighth inning while the world was crashing down around his ears, Manager Steve O'Neill and his catcher, Smokey Burgess, got the heave-ho from the durable Donatelli.

Thirteen Dodgers walked or hit before an out was made in the eighth. Twelve runs followed before a 4-2 game into a rout before five Phil pitchers managed to retire a batter. It took 42 minutes to play the half inning, with 16 Dodgers going to bat.

Contrary to popular belief, the zaniest accident in the big leagues last week was not the one in which Umpire Tom Gorman lost two teeth when struck in the mush by Carl Furillo's peg from the outfield. The victim of the real prizewinner was Dick Gernert, sophomore first baseman of the Boston Red Sox.

Reaching to spear a low line drive against the St. Louis Browns, Gernert inflicted a painful spike wound on the ring finger of his throwing hand.

Robert Menzies, Prime Minister of Australia and one of that nation's hottest tennis fans, tells me he greatly fears our Tony Trabert in the next Davis Cup challenge round at Melbourne. Passing through on his way to the coronation, the Premier said his people were considerably shocked when Jack Kramer began beating Frank Sedgman like a drum. "That really blew the gaff," he said, meaning, of course, that it upset the apple cart.

Al Lopez, the Cleveland manager, is quoted as saying he would bench Ray Boone and use George Strickland regularly at shortstop if he had a hitting catcher to replace Jim Hegan. While Boone hurts the Indians with his fielding, he's a far better batter than Strickland.

Billy Loes Can't Explain Misery After Mastery Hurling

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Loes, Brooklyn's unpredictable and somewhat bemused young righthander, was asked how he explained the fact that he almost invariably follows one of his brilliant performances with an exhibition so horrible it gives Manager Chuck Dressen the fidgets. "I can't figure it out, myself," Billy replied, thoughtfully. "I always feel the same. It must be the way the other team feels."

We are advised that it will be improper to refer to Ben Hogan as "Bantam Ben" when he goes after his fourth National Open title next month at Oakmont. The remarkable Texan has put on some 20 pounds in the past few years, they say, and now balances the beam at a robust 162. The big fellow now outweighs several of his more prominent rivals, including Lloyd Mangrum.

They're going too far with those stories about Milwaukee's baseball dementia. We believed them all including the one about the fans cheering poor fouls by the home team, but rebel when they report that bellhops in the suds capital are refusing to accept tips from ball players. That will be the day.

Big 7 Baseball, With Sooners as Champions, Winding Up Today

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Big Seven Conference winds up its 1953 baseball season with Iowa State meeting Colorado in games today and tomorrow at Boulder.

Oklahoma already has won the loop title with seven victories and two losses. Nebraska finished a close second with a 10-3 record.

Except for the Iowa State-Colorado games, league play was completed Saturday with the day's games being like this:

Oklahoma 7 Missouri 5
Colorado 18 Kansas State 6
Nebraska 4 Iowa State 1

Ben Hogan Gets $5,000 for Top Spot In Colonial

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Ben Hogan, who can win more money in three tournaments than the other golfers in 20, tucked away $5,000 for spread-eagling the field in the $15,000 Colonial National Invitational.

He looked today toward the next tournament he would like to take four times—the National Open.

The little giant swept familiar Colonial Country Club courses' 7,033 yards for a three-under-par 67 yesterday to compile a par 282 for 72 holes and win, by five strokes, the tournament that's become known as "Hogan's Benefit."

It was his fourth Colonial championship in seven years and it meant that he had won a total of $18,800 in this tournament played at the country club where he is a dues-paying member.

His winnings in three tournaments this year reached $11,400 and made him the season money leader.

There was just "no contest" as the grim little man labored three days to solve the trickiness of the course and to combat the terrific wind that beset the layout through the tournament.

See New Mark At Indianapolis 500 Saturday

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Barring bad weather or wrecks that slow the pace, the winner of next Saturday's 37th annual 500-mile auto race should put a new speed record in the Indianapolis Motor Speedway books.

The 33 starters averaged almost a mile an hour faster than last year's record-smashing field in qualifications that ended Sunday.

Only nine of last year's starters made over 136 miles an hour in the 10-mile time trials. 19 of this year's field bettered that speed. The overall average is 136.435, compared with last year's 135.504.

Troy Ruttman, out with an injury this year, set a record speed average of 128.992 for the 500 miles last year.

Bill Vukovich of Fresno, Calif., who qualified May 17, won the $1,000 extra prize for the top speed of 138.392.

Wes Santee Expects Four Minute Mile

AMES, Ia. (AP)—Wes Santee, the slender 21-year-old Kansas University junior, expects to run the long talked of 4-minute mile before he is graduated next spring.

There is good reason for his confidence. Santee raced to a new national collegiate mark of 4 minutes and 6.3 seconds last Saturday as Kansas won the Big Seven Conference track title with 138 7-20 points.

Santee said he thought he could have gone under 4:05 if he hadn't had another race to run. The second race was the half mile and he did that one in 1:50.8 to better the 1:51 Big Seven record he set in the preliminaries.

Discussing with reporters his chances of running a 4-minute mile Wes said:

"Of course conditions have to be just right, and I think I will get those conditions before I graduate next spring."

Santee's mile mark, one of the four fastest by an American, knocked out the 19-year-old record of 4:06.7 by Glenn Cunningham, another Kansas great.

Wes needed his spectacular performances to edge Thane Baker of Kansas State for the Henry F. Schulte Memorial Trophy awarded annually by the Omaha World-Herald to the outstanding athlete in the meet.

Baker, who established a conference 440-yard record of :47.1 in the preliminaries but passed up the final, won the 100 and 220-yard dashes for the third straight year and anchored the Kansas State mile relay team to a 3:15.4 record with an unofficial :46.4 quarter.

Bruce Drummond of Oklahoma came up with the fourth record Saturday, a 9:19.0 two mile run to furnish 10 of the Sooners' 83 1/2 points for second place.

Other team scoring: Nebraska 68 7-20; Iowa State 55 3-5; Kansas State 49; Missouri 44 3-5 and Colorado 25 3-5.

Iowa State and Colorado took team honors in the golf and tennis tournaments, respectively.

The golf scoring was Iowa State 909; Colorado 949; Oklahoma 954; Nebraska 958; Kansas State 965; Kansas 972 and Missouri 987.

Don Molyneux of Iowa State and Erv Peterson of Nebraska shared medalist honors for the 54-hole tournament with 22 1/2.

Colorado, winning its first team title since joining the Big Seven in 1948, outscored Oklahoma, 15-12. Other places: Kansas 6; Iowa State and Missouri 5 each; Nebraska 4 and Kansas State 2.

Cards In Good Form, Drop Reds, Take 2nd Place

By The Associated Press

The St. Louis Cardinals turned up with a couple of new weapons—good defensive play and pitching—when their slam-bang hitting attack of last week failed them at Busch Stadium yesterday.

They produced a 2-0 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs, good enough to put the Redbirds in second place in the scrambled National League race.

Gerald Staley did the pitching, limiting Cincinnati to five hits and walking only one man.

It was defensive work, however, that really saved the day. Twice Cincinnati runners were cut down at the plate. Once on a strong throw by Stan Musial and a second time on a perfect relay with Red Schoendienst taking the middle spot.

Rip Repulski doubled in the second, scoring Del Rice all the way from first as Cincinnati outfielders Willard Marshall and Gus Bell, afraid they would collide, let the ball fall.

In the seventh, Del Rice was hit by a pitch, then forced at second by Repulski. Staley sacrificed and Solly Hemus singled. Repulski crossing the plate safely as catcher Hobie Landrith dropped Jim Greengrass' strong throw.

In a doubleheader at Cleveland the Indians maintained their superiority over the Browns with a twin killing, 5-1 and 9-8.

The Browns outthit the Indians 16 to 14 in the dual affair, but the Indians had the kind of hits that count—two homers worth seven runs.

Al Rosen hit a three-run homer in the first game and Ray Boone made the difference in the finale with a grand slammer.

It concluded the Browns' eastern trip with seven straight defeats—three at the hands of Indians.

Monkey on Binge Wrecks a Tavern

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A monkey on a drunk had about $125 worth of fun in a San Antonio bar.

The 20-months old monkey named Jodie slipped through an air conditioning vent Saturday morning.

The animal went through two bottles of wine and containers of peanuts, smashing bottles and jars.

For a finale, the animal hurled bar signs and sausages and wieners. Two policemen captured Jodie and took him home to sleep it off.

Newcastle Disease Vaccination

During the past few years Newcastle disease has spread to almost every county in Missouri. And at this time of year, many poultrymen begin wondering whether or not to vaccinate for the disease.

Vaccinating for Newcastle, says Walter Russell, extension poultryman, is much like taking out an insurance policy in that it protects from possible losses. And in the case of this disease, the loss in birds and in egg production can be costly.

An outbreak of Newcastle disease in young chickens usually begins with difficulty in breathing. The birds gasp and wheeze as if they had a cold. At first, only a few birds are sick, but in a few days the entire flock is affected. The mortality is generally high, ranging from 10 to 90 per cent. After the respiratory symptoms disappear, a nervous disorder may be observed in some of the survivors. The birds may walk in circles or backwards, have twisted necks or become paralyzed.

To protect young birds from Newcastle, the use of an intranasal vaccine at one to 10 days of age is recommended. The cost of this vaccine is about one cent per bird and it gives reasonable protection for 10 to 12 weeks. One drop of the diluted vaccine is placed in the nostril and is "snuffed" inside by the chick's breathing.

The most spectacular effect of Newcastle in laying flocks is a rapid drop of 50 to 100 per cent in egg production. Many "floor" eggs with soft or imperfect shells are laid. The older birds also have respiratory symptoms, but the nervous disorders that usually appear in young chickens are seen less often. Old hens or pullets which have been in high egg production for several months may go into a complete molt. The mortality rate in the older birds is seldom very high; in fact, there have been cases where there is no mortality at all. However, losses are greater if other diseases, such as pullorum, coccidiosis, fowl pox, or fowl cholera attack the flock at the same time.

To protect the flock after the tenth week, a live-virus wing-vaccine is recommended. This vaccine produces a resistance which usually carries the birds through normal life and should be used before birds come into production. If you have old hens in production that have not been vaccinated, you should divide the chores so that one person takes care of the vaccination, another person takes care of the old hens for a period of about three weeks. Be sure the pullets are healthy when you vaccinate and if you are going to vaccinate for fowl pox, allow two weeks interval between the fowl pox and Newcastle vaccination.

Remember, Newcastle vaccination is like an insurance policy. It protects you from possible losses, but is not a substitute for good management.

House Flies Can Be Controlled

House flies are already becoming a problem in some parts of the state. In many cases they are resistant to DDT, Lindane and other residual sprays says Stirling Kyd, extension entomologist.

If you had success with residual sprays last year, you may have success this year. If you didn't, there's little chance that you'll have better luck this year. Once flies build up a resistance to DDT and Lindane they automatically build up a certain degree of resistance to the other residual insecticides of this type including toxaphene, methoxychlor, chlordane, aldrin and others.

This means you'll probably have to go back to pre-war methods of controlling flies. These include the use of space sprays that have no residual effect, the use of poison baits, and good sanitation.

There are several good space sprays that kill flies present in the room when sprayed. Pyrethrin, allethrin, lenthane or aerosol bombs all give good temporary control around the milkroom or house. One of the safest poison baits for fly control can be made by mixing one tablespoonful of 40 per cent formalin with a pint of water and a pint of milk. Place this in the barn or milkroom out of reach of children and pets.

A good sanitation program is a must for fly control. If you can't keep the stables and barn clean and manure spread regularly, cover the manure with solution made by dissolving one pound of borax in 25 gallons of water. This will help prevent flies from breeding.

Three Earthquakes Jar Coastal Towns

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Three separate earthquakes jarred California communities on a rough north-south line late Sunday, but none was serious and a seismologist said the series was "only coincidence."

The first was felt at Hollister, in Central California, at 5:23:52 p.m. (7:23:52 p.m. EST.) The second, at 8:24:59, was centered between Bakersfield—the scene of a serious quake last year—and Los Angeles. The third rocked the area around Ukiah, 110 miles north of San Francisco, at 9:08:27 p.m.

Balanced Farming Notes

In Pettis County

By MERLE VAUGHAN
County Agent

Crowd to Columbia June 2nd
I believe the crops tour last Friday, May 22 merits spending most of this space on it. Along that line the Tour of Crops and Fertilizer plots at the Experiment Station at Columbia is Tuesday, June 2.

At least 50 folks are planning to attend from Pettis County. We will be glad to help arrange group transportation and there will be at least one car going from the office here. The tour starts at 9:45 so cars have to leave Sedalia by 7:45. It will be over about 3:15 p.m.

Farm women are urged to make the trip with their husbands to see how new crops, new pastures and new fertilizer applications can increase their income.

Business Men Day June 4

A program was started a year ago to have a special day at Columbia for representatives of Chamber of Commerce, civic clubs and other interested business men. That day is Thursday, June 4. South Missouri farmers go Tuesday, north Missouri folks Wednesday, and then the Civic groups Thursday.

The entire day is spent on conducted tours of the crops and pasture plots and the fertilizer plots.

The Agricultural Committee of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce is taking the lead in getting the representative group of Sedalia folks on the June 4 trip.

Wheat Seen at Whittall, Keith and Dorman

A goodly number of neighbors left their field work Friday morning to make the crops tour of the above three farms and to ask questions of Bill Murphy, Extension Field Crops Specialist.

The start was made on winter barley at Raymon Whittalls. This has been fertilized with 200 pounds of 8-24-8 and yield estimates made by 40 bushels per acre. The second stop was on Pawnee wheat and Mr. Whittall led the group to a spot in the field where no fertilizer had been used. The wheat here was one fourth shorter than the rest. This wheat had been seeded on red clover ground that was worked up with a field cultivator. There was a good stand of volunteer clover every where, but that on the unfertilized plot did not have the color or growth of the rest. On the way to the wheat we drove through a good stand of second year sweet clover that was just ready to sward over for corn.

Wheat and Terrace Outlets at Keiths

At Raymond Keiths the check plot on wheat were no androus ammonia was used showed up very plainly. The rest of the field where 150 pounds of 8-24-8 plus the nitrogen was used looks like it will make a good acreage yield.

The check on the other hand which had only the 8-24-8 is light in color, was stunted very little and probably won't yield 50 percent as much as the rest.

An adjoining field of higher fertility had not shown the results of several trips around it with the anhydrous application when I was there recently. However last Friday each path of the machine was clearly marked with taller and much darker colored vegetation.

The group also looked at two terrace outlets on the Keith farm and one across the fence on Edgar Daniels. All three end up at one ditch which will be protected from cutting back further by a large concrete structure to be put in relatively soon.

The outlets were built and seeded last fall.

Forest Dohrman's canary grass was in a small bottom field along the road just west of his house. It was in an earlier column about how much pasture it had produced this spring. He mentioned that he had not obtained a full stand and Mr. Murphy reported that was the usual results. Some of the plants had been dragged up in the side of the road bed in grading operations.

Insure Stock Investment By Roughage

According to Webster, to insure means to protect or secure against loss. Says Albert Hagen, extension farm management specialist.

Farmers who depend largely on livestock for farm income certainly are interested in protecting their livestock investment against loss. On many farms this investment is quite large.

From the dollars and cents standpoint, gross income from livestock depends on the volume of products sold and the price received per unit. Net income is affected greatly by the efficiency with which we get this high volume production.

Beef cattle producers have experienced a forceful lesson in the importance of high volume production within the past year. Today, they must sell almost 1-3 more beef than a year ago in order to hold gross income at the same level. With high farm operating expenses and overhead costs, their gross income must be kept relatively high.

Many Missouri livestock producers have more than doubled livestock production and sales within a few years time by developing a well-balanced and highly productive system of pasture and other feed production. In most cases, this has been a part of a complete Balanced Farming system.

Here are some of the things they are doing to insure this higher production: (1) Pasture Improvement as much livestock per acre on permanent pastures through heavy soil treatment — as determined by soil tests — and by reseeded to productive grass-legume mixtures; (2) supplemental pastures — such as lespedeza and sudan — and used to insure higher gains during hot summer months; and to permit growth of improved pasture to accumulate for fall and winter grazing; (3) hay — high yielding and drought resistant hay crops, such as alfalfa, provide the hay supply from less acres — releasing more acres for additional pasture and other crops; (4) silage — is used far more extensively to utilize surplus pasture, small grains, sweet clover, etc., and to save hay crops during rainy weather; in spring and early summer months, this early harvested silage carried many livestock producers through the severe drought last year and silos were re-filled with corn and sargo for winter feeding.

With field choppers and other labor saving equipment, many find that silage can be harvested and fed with less labor and cost than hay crops and that it supplies higher quality roughage; (5) high grain yields — are giving more waste of grain feed from fewer acres as a result of complete soil treatments, high yielding varieties and good production practices; and (6) finally, idle acres — eroded waste areas — have been put to work producing added pasture and feed through complete system of water management, soil treatment and other such practices.

This may sound like "ok" stuff, but these practices — coupled with good sanitation, better quality live stock and efficient management — are getting the job done on thousands of Missouri livestock farms. Your county agent can help you develop a complete Balanced Farming plan which will coordinate these high production practices. It will pay you well during the next few years when prices are on the down trend.

Seek Three Who Tied Wealthy Widow to Bed Then Took Cash, Jewels

ROME, N. Y. (AP)—Three men who tied a wealthy widow to her bed with telephone cords and robbed her of about $100,000 worth of jewelry were the targets of a widespread police search today.

Mrs. Kate Putnam, holder of the largest individual block of stock in the Union News Co., was unharmed as the robbers ransacked her 18-room suburban home for an hour Saturday night.

A woman in her 70s, Mrs. Putnam freed her hands within 15 minutes after the men had left, and summoned aid.

mentioned that rape had a protein content very close to legumes so needed a lot of nitrogen. That was evident as we walked over the field. While a former bunch of hogs had been fed on the ground the oats and rape were much bluer in color than in other places in the field.

Sec'y Benson Asks Farmers Anticipate Wheat Storage Need

With a record supply of wheat in prospect, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has called on farmers and warehousemen to get ready now for the serious storage problem that lies ahead.

"The May 11 crop report highlights the big storage job that faces us this year," Secretary Benson said. "The report points to a 1953 wheat crop of over a billion bushels. In addition, there will be on hand about 575,000,000 bushels of old wheat inherited from the preceding administration. Altogether, we may have in the 1953-54 marketing year a wheat supply totaling more than 1,600,000,000 — a supply exceeding the previous record set in 1942-43."

"Farmers themselves can do much to see that this year's big wheat supply is properly housed. In most areas, they have ample time to arrange for expanding storage space on their own farms. Financing for on-farm storage can be arranged through the Commodity Credit Corporation, but private agencies have handled most of this in the past and are expected to be adequate this year. Since 1949, farmers have used this loan program to expand on-farm storage capacity by 142,000,000 bushels. Farm storage is very desirable and farmers should consider further expansion of their facilities at this time. In addition, those who intend to use local elevator space should take steps now to see that such space will be available."

"The commercial storage industry, however, will have the major responsibility of providing a roof for the 1953 wheat crop. Grain stocks already are beginning to move out of the main wheat producing sections and into the areas where storage is available. To the extent that it is practicable to do so, this movement of stocks from country elevators to the larger terminal markets and port areas should be accelerated to permit the new crop to be stored in local elevators."

The secretary warned that even with advance planning, there probably will be much wheat "on the ground." At harvest time, local supplies often outstrip available storage, especially in the Southwest, so the wheat is stored temporarily on the ground — generally near an elevator. This more-or-less normal situation is no cause for alarm if plans are made to put the grain under a roof before it suffers serious damage.

The special wheat storage problems of the Commodity Credit Corporation also were discussed by Secretary Benson, who described them as "problems within problems." As the secretary explained, CCC must concern itself not only with the overall problem of wheat storage, but also with the very specific problem of finding storage for wheat CCC itself owns.

Of the 575,000,000 bushels of wheat that will be carried over on July 1, CCC probably will hold in inventory nearly 500,000,000 bushels — the largest amount CCC ever has owned. Most of this quantity will represent the "take-over" of the 1952 crop wheat, an action already under way.

"Our main reliance for storage will be on private enterprise — on the facilities and know-how of the people who make a business of storing grain," the secretary said. "That will be our policy and we know that private enterprise will do all in its power to meet emergency storage needs. The more private enterprise does, the less government must do. We are, however, taking some preliminary actions to meet developments."

The secretary said that CCC will convert to grain storage use 50 idle maritime commission ships anchored in the Hudson River — a move that will ease the storage situation in the northeast. In the Southwest, idle warehouses and hangars of the military services are being surveyed for possible storage use. The secretary said that, in general, commercial warehouse interests would operate these emergency facilities under agreements.

Action is being taken to keep exports moving on schedule so as to keep space available at and near ports. CCC also is arranging for movement of stocks within the country, to help provide space where it is most needed — although the needs for storage of other crops which will be coming to harvest a little later must be considered. For example, wheat from Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado would move south, if space can be found, rather than to the corn country east and north of the Missouri River.

Secretary Benson also called attention to the "resealing" programs under which farmers can extend their CCC loans on 1952-crop corn and oats for another year. Resealing is aimed at relieving the pressure on transportation and off-farm storage facilities, and at keeping corn and oats on farms where the great bulk of these grains ultimately will be used for feed.

How serious the corn storage problem will be next fall will depend primarily upon the size of the 1953 crop. Stocks of corn on hand next October 1 may be 700,000,000 bushels or more. Corn will compete to some extent with wheat for available storage space and some of the "overlapping" storage problems are expected in the heavy corn-producing areas.

Paved Concrete Barn Lots Pay Over Long Period

Many farmers are looking for a low-cost material for paving their barnlot, reports Ralph Ricketts, extension agricultural engineer. However, Ricketts says, the initial cost is not as important as the long time cost since a properly paved barn lot will last a long time.

Asphalt, calcium chloride, and other low cost materials usually hold up well for a year or two then begin breaking up. So on the long time basis they are not as cheap as you might think. And although the initial cost of concrete is higher, it is probably the cheapest material you can use in the long run... and will pay for itself over a period of years in savings of feed and labor.

The usual location of a paved barn lot is on the south side of the barn. An average size slab 20 x 40 feet in the area will cost about $60 if you have your own sand and gravel. If you have to buy your sand and gravel it will run around $90.00. Many farmers like to use ready-mixed concrete because of its ease even though it costs about $150 for a slab this size.

It's important to grade the surface of the ground smooth before pouring the concrete. Remove any weeds, straw, or manure that may be present. Then give the grade a slope of about one-quarter inch per foot so the paved lot will be well-drained. Following the natural slope of the ground will quite often give the proper grade.

Four inches of concrete is sufficient if you have a good subgrade and use quality materials. However, it's a good idea to thicken the edge of the slab so that it won't crack when heavy machinery or trucks are driven onto the pavement.

A new circular available from the county extension office gives complete information of how to construct paved concrete lots.

Joined Sisters Both Very Good After One Has Serious Operation

BOSTON (AP)—Forty-one year old Siamese twin sisters were reported in "very good" condition Monday at New England Deaconess Hospital where one had a serious operation Saturday for which both were anesthetized.

Dr. Frank Lahey removed an abdominal tumor from Miss Margaret Gibb, of Holyoke, Mass. Her sister, Mary, who shares the same circulatory system, underwent most of Mary's experiences during the two-hour surgery, except the incision.

Doctors said both are recovering nicely from post-operative shock.

Probers See Extent of Tax Case Influence

WASHINGTON — House tax fraud investigators probed today into the extent to which "high Treasury officials" may have intervened in tax cases before the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Former Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, according to sources close to the Ways and Means investigating subcommittee holding public hearings today is among those involved in the inquiry.

As head of the Treasury Department, Snyder was also nominal head of the Internal Revenue Bureau and, as such, would normally have an official interest in tax operations.

Committee Counsel John Tobin said investigators were prepared to air "several cases" in which there was suspected intervention from top Treasury brass. But Tobin refrained from mentioning Snyder in this regard.

There were indications, meanwhile, that hearings today and tomorrow may include the committee's long search for irregularities, meddling and influence peddling in administration of the tax laws.

The inquiry, which started in the spring of 1951, seems headed for a windup sometime this summer. Its $100,000 appropriation is half gone with a large part of the residue needed to conclude its affairs and pay off its staff.

Investigators said the press of legislative business probably would make further hearings unlikely before July 1. This would be too late for any further major inquiry under present circumstances.

The committee has written off its efforts to get the answers to questions put to Henry W. Grunewald, Washington mystery man whom investigators attempted to link to supposed tax fixes in past years.

Grunewald is due in Federal District Court Thursday for sentencing on his plea of guilty to a charge of contempt of Congress for refusing to talk to investigators a year ago.

But the committee guarded closely the identity of important figures on Grunewald's "Christmas tie club" list. Grunewald said he sent them $7.50 neckties as Christmas gifts.

Members said the list would not be made public, but said it included the names of people in government, business and Congress.

Dulles Visits Turkey

ISTANBUL, TURKEY — U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and the officials with him on a Middle East tour arrived here by air from Pakistan today for a one-day rest.

The Budd Co. Strike Ends

DETROIT — Settlement of a strike at the Budd Company, supplier of auto body stampings, today provided the first break in a wave of layoffs that has crippled a large segment of the automobile industry.

Some 44,000 Chrysler Corp. employees idled by the Budd walkout were expected to be back on their jobs within a day or two.

However, two other supplier strikes, at the Canton, O., plant of the Ford Motor Company and at Warner Gear Company in Muncie, Ind., kept thousands of other car production workers idle or on short shifts.

The Budd strike, resulting from a jurisdictional dispute between units of a CIO United Auto Workers local, was called off Sunday on orders from the UAW International.

At a mass meeting of the strikers, international union officials reprimanded the men for their action and told them to end the walkout or there would be "appropriate action by the international."

The strikers then voted to go back to work.

Chrysler said its DeSoto plant could resume operations on today's second shift, and added that it would try to have Chrysler, Dodge and Dodge truck divisions operating by Tuesday morning. Plymouth division was not affected.

Ford completed the layoff of 85,000 workers, a move started last week because of a lack of parts from the strikebound forge plant at Canton.

The Warner Gear strike affected production at Studebaker, Willys, Nash and some General Motors plants.

Studebaker's 23,000 production workers began working a 20-hour week. The employees, members of the UAW, voted to shorten their hours rather than see half their number laid off.

Ford declined to reply during the weekend to a UAW request for meetings on revision of the union's contract in a manner similar to the plan worked out last week with General Motors. It was believed Ford would insist on settlement of the Canton strike before considering any contract changes.

Anything Can Happen, Once Groundlings Take to the Air

By HAL BOYLE

LONDON AIRPORT — People are uncertain enough when they are on the ground. But get them up in the air—and anything can happen.

That is why, although the air age has lost much of its glamor, it is more likely to be a member of a plane crew or the boy back home than a wealthy ticketholder.

The girls find plenty of romance, laughter and adventure, but few of them achieve the dream of meeting and marrying a multi-millionaire passenger.

"With the present tax situation it is hardly even worth while looking for one," laughed Evelyn. "This kind of a life appeals to escapist girls who don't want to have to depend on some poor miserable male to support them."

Most of the stewardesses do marry, of course, but their choice is more likely to be a member of a plane crew or the boy back home than a wealthy ticketholder.

The girls are like postmen on their time off. They earn from about $250 to $450 a month and they usually spend their savings on monthlong vacation trips to spots in the world they haven't yet seen.

"Just like any other tourist," said Evelyn. "We dream of a houseboat on a lake in Kashmir or loing on a beach in Bali, and Bali is where I want to go next."

These side journeys have had their moments of excitement. Once Kay was in a car that broke down while going through a vast game preserve in Africa.

"Six of us had to stay there with the windows shut for 18 hours while lions and hyenas prowled around the car," said Kay.

"Yes," said Evelyn. "There was a wealthy stockman in the car, and I don't know why Kay didn't land him before they were res-

"Well, the elderly men always have a boy friend in every port," said Evelyn.

And do they?

"In New York Evelyn has more than one friend," said Kay non-committally.

ROOM WITH A VIEW—Under Los Angeles' starlit sky, Miss Doughty Anne Bond, 63, retires for the night across the street from her former home. She was evicted for non-payment of what she calls "robbery rent." Her troubles started last February when the frail little old lady tossed her landlord out as he allegedly "invaded" her house. Her rent was then increased from $45 to $75 a month.

Factory Time Equals World War II Peak

WASHINGTON — Factory workers are putting in as many hours as the peak of World War II and one hour more a week than a year ago.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Saturday the average work-week in April was 40.8 hours.

The report showed wages are higher. Average weekly earnings came to $71.40, near the record level, and hourly pay averaged $1.85, including overtime.

Indians Increase But US Isn't Sure What An Indian Is

WASHINGTON — The Census Bureau says the U. S. Indian population has grown about 45 per cent since the turn of the century—but it is not quite sure what an Indian is.

In a report based on the 1950 census and issued Saturday, the bureau said there were 343,410 Indians then compared with 237,196 in 1900.

For the most part, it said, Indians were those living on reservations where blood lines have been preserved fairly pure.

But a spokesman said enumerators put a person down as an Indian if he looked like an Indian. When in doubt, they were supposed to ask.

Hudson Bay is not a bay, but an inland sea.

SEAGOING JEEP—U. S. Marines are soldiers of the sea, so it's only appropriate that they have a seagoing jeep. It's the Mighty Mite, pictured here during tests in the Potomac River near the Quantico, Va., Marine base. The Mite is kept afloat by four inflated rubber tubes. It is propelled and steered by the wheels. The oversized notches on the tire treads are big enough to act as "paddle wheels" and move the vehicle forward or back.
